

Career Communities

Align your academic interests with your career interests.

WHAT IS A CAREER COMMUNITY?

A career community consists of a group of students who have career interests that fall into a specific occupational category. This model was implemented to provide a more targeted approach to guiding students through the career development process. Within the School of Public Health here are five communities in which you can engage:

- Fitness & Wellness
- Hospitality, Tourism, & Recreation
- Public Health & Safety
- Sport & Business
- Youth & Social Services

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF JOINING A CAREER COMMUNITY?

- You can meet with a career coach who will guide you through the career development process in a manner that aligns with your career interests.
- You will be able to take advantage of specialized services, programs, and events customized to meet your specific career development needs.

HOW DO I JOIN A CAREER COMMUNITY?

Visit <https://careers.publichealth.iu.edu/> to log in and select your preferences and alerts, including the career communities and career topics that interest you most.

FITNESS & WELLNESS

Are you interested in exercise assessment & prescription, nutrition, behavior change, and exercise physiology? Within the Fitness & Wellness Career Community, you will have the opportunity to develop your career portfolio and learn how to market your experiences and skills to potential employers. This career community will also provide you with information about the various graduate programs you can enter before heading off to your career, including physical or occupational therapy, medicine or other health professions.

HOSPITALITY, TOURISM, & RECREATION

Are you interested in a career in recreation, parks, hospitality, or event planning? The Hospitality, Tourism, and Recreation Career Community will provide you with opportunities to learn more about the various career paths you can take. Learn how your passion for enhancing the quality of life for all people through recreational pursuits, environmental conservation, and love of the outdoors can turn into your career.

PUBLIC HEALTH & SAFETY

Are you looking to make a difference in your community and workplace through public and environmental health or safety initiatives? Whether focused on protecting the environment, leading a health program, or promoting health and safety in workplaces, the Public Health & Safety Career Community will help you learn more about potential career paths. Within this community, you will have opportunities to meet professionals who will help you learn more about the field. Receive career-specific advice and opportunities.

SPORT & BUSINESS

Are you interested in the sales, marketing, management, communication & media, operations, business, or legal aspects of the sport business? As part of the Sport Business & Marketing Career Community, you will learn more about activities and jobs that go behind the scenes of the sport business world. Gain a firm understanding of the jobs and functions that comprise the front offices of collegiate and professional sports organizations. Graduates also possess the business acumen to work outside of the context of sports.

YOUTH & SOCIAL SERVICES

Are you passionate about creating programs focused on serving families, children, and community members? The Youth & Social Services Career Community will help you learn more about how people function within the context of their families and larger communities. Learn how to market your skills and experiences as you prepare your graduate school and job applications.
