Description of internship provider:

University of Connecticut Student Television (UCTV) is the University of Connecticut’s only television station and it is completely run by students. UCTV provides local news, sports, and entertainment for students. The television station provides experience for students who are interested in going into television whether as a writer, editor, director, or producer.

Description of internship position:

The UCTV intern is responsible for assisting the departments Marketing, Entertainment, UCSPAN, Human Relations, Entertainment, News and/or Sports. The intern will do a variety of work for each department within UCTV. This could include work behind the scenes during broadcasts for News and Sports, filming and editing, training new members, as well as helping to organize at least two events for Marketing. From this, one will gain experience in production, filming, editing, event planning, as well as working in a fast-paced environment. No experience is necessary, because the internship will begin with a training process at UCTV through the Human Relations Department.
